-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --

Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-3, 5-10, & 12-18 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Crocker et al, U.S. Patent Publication #2004/0203672 in view of Poplawsky et al, U.S. Patent Publication #2002/0032042 or Ampunan et al, U.S. Patent Publication #2005/0080606 or Oesterling et al '799.

Crocker et al discloses a method of initiating a telematics service in a mobile vehicle, with the service initiation call received from a call center (170), [0006]. In [0020] Crocker et al disclose that land network (160) may be a PSTN and that the network may be either wired, optical, fiber, optical, another wireless network, or any combination thereof. Crocker et al never disclose that that one of various networks that they have disclosed could be the Internet with the phone call being VoIP. However, Poplawsky et al do disclose in [0057] a wireless communication device (102) that uses the Internet as the network for the communications. Poplawsky et al disclose in [0057] that vehicle (302) has only one IP address. In [0058] Poplawsky et al disclose that a communication is prepared at a site remote from vehicle (302). This communication packet includes an IP address for the 1st vehicle. The packet also includes port information or other identifying information associated with subsystem (378). The port information reads upon applicant's phrase "server call in parameters". In [0059] Poplawsky et al disclose that a server conducts an address translation by which the vehicle IP address is provided before the communication is sent over the Internet. To have provided Poplawsky et al teaching of providing wireless communications to and from a vehicle by using VoIP into Crocker et al telecommunications method would have been obvious to a person having ordinary skill in the art, because Crocker has already disclose a plurality of networks in [0020]. The person with ordinary skill in the wireless communication arts will readily realize that it would have obvious to take Polawsky et al disclosure of providing wireless communications over the Internet and added it to Crocker's networks.

Ampunan et al disclose that one of the networks (144) to communicate with vehicle (110) is the Internet/IP network, [0026]. For claim 7, Ampunan et al disclose the Short Message Service system in [0025]. Oesterling et al discloses in col. 4, lines 4-6, that land network (150) could also be the IP network.

Claims 4, 11, and 19 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

Any inquiry concerning this communication should be directed to Creighton H. Smith at telephone number 571/272-7546.
